Payment & Refund Policy

All transactions for digital content, downloads, and other intangible products on TweakLabs.net are processed securely through PayPal. PayPal uses SSL encryption and industry-standard protections to ensure your transaction details remain secure. Your credit card or debit card information is never stored on our servers.

Due to the nature of digital goods, all sales are final. Once a product is downloaded or accessed, it is considered “used” and is not eligible for a refund or exchange. By purchasing from TweakLabs.net, you agree to this strict no refund policy for all digital products.

TweakLabs.net reserves the right to update or modify product prices, technical specifications, information, names, terms of purchase, and available services without prior notice.

Delivery of Digital Goods

Upon successful payment, you will receive a secure download link to access your purchased digital product. If you do not receive the download link, please contact us immediately at contact@tweaklabs.net with your payment details, and we will ensure the product is delivered to you as soon as possible.

Disclaimer of Responsibility

TweakLabs.net is not responsible for:

- Any typographical errors or misspellings in product descriptions or file names
- Any issues, damages, or losses resulting from the use or misuse of the products purchased from our site
- The functionality, compatibility, or performance of any program, script, or file sold
- Errors caused by user misconfiguration or misuse of the purchased files

All products are provided as-is, with no guarantee of suitability for any particular purpose. By purchasing from our site, you acknowledge and accept this disclaimer in full.
